2 FAM EXHIBIT 461 CONSULAR DISTRICTS

(CT:GEN-397; 08-27-2012)

- a. Consular districts are listed by country, under which posts providing consular services are listed alphabetically. Each post is ranked by an abbreviated designation (see 2 FAM 463) and indicates whether all or limited consular services are provided, without specifying the limits of the consular services. Generally, posts without consular functions are not listed.
- b. This designation of consular districts may differ from designations pursuant to 22 CFR 41.101 of consular offices with jurisdiction for nonimmigrant visa purposes.

The Taiwan Relations Act defines "Taiwan" as consisting of the island of Taiwan and the Pescadores (Penghu). This U.S. statutory definition of Taiwan omits mention of the Taiwan-held Fujianese islands of Jinmen (Kinmen, Quemoy) and Mazu (Matsu). It therefore appears that AIT officers are not authorized under the TRA or 1997 designations by the Secretary and A/S to perform notarial acts or to execute U.S. passport or visa laws on the islands of Jinmen or Mazu, and that U.S. citizens born there cannot elect "Taiwan" as the place of birth on their passports.

		northwest of Ciudad Guerrero. Nuevo Laredo will cover all to the north and west of the river. Matamoros covers all of Tamaulipas to the east and south of the river except the cities of Tampico, Ciudad Madero, and Altamira, which are covered by Mexico City.
	Merida (CG)	Campeche, Quintana Roo, Yucatan
	Monterrey (CG)	Nuevo Leon, Coahuila (south see Nuevo Laredo for complete demarcation), Durango, San Luis Potosi, Zacatecas
	Nogales (CG)	The state of Sonora is bisected into Northern Sonora (Nogales) and Southern Sonora (Hermosillo). The northern boundaries of the following municipalities run in a generally latitudinal manner, past the town of Benjamin Hill, and everything south of this line is the consular district of Hermosillo: Pitiquito, Trincheras, Benjamin Hill, Opodepe, Banamichi, Cumpas, Villa Hidalgo, Bacerac.
	Nuevo Laredo (CG)	Tamaulipas to the north and west of the Rio Salado, west of Ciudad Guerrero. In Northern Coahuila, Nuevo Laredo is divided from Monterrey's part (Southern Coahuila); starting from the border of Nuevo Leon, one can follow the Salado River generally by proceeding along Highway 95 from the Nuevo Leon border from the town of Rio Salado to Nueva Rosita. From there, Highway 93 runs through Palau and Muzquiz and off to the Northwest, until Los Alamos. From there, draw a line to the southern tip of Big Bend. Towns like La Union and El Olan will be in Nuevo Laredo's district; all towns touching Route 93 or Route 95 and points south will be in Monterrey's district.
